During this course, students will learn about the rich and complex history of Texas, from its earliest inhabitants to its development as a modern state. The year begins with the prehistory of Texas, where students explore the lives of early Native American cultures, their migration patterns and how geography influenced their settlements and lifestyles. Students will also explore the Age of Contact; when European explorers first encountered Indigenous people, and the lasting effects of these interactions. The curriculum continues on through more major events leading up to the establishment of Texas, and all of the major key events that led to Texas winning its independence, forming the Republic of Texas and eventually becoming a State. Students analyze how Texas's unique identity was shaped by a diverse mix of people, cultures, and historical events, people and landmarks that still exist in Texas present day.
